

Patterns & Rhythms: Receiving the Gift of Order in Chaos

FPC Women's Retreat
Friday - Sunday, April 20 - 22, 2018

Treat yourself to a soul-nourishing weekend away with other women. Our last three retreats have been so much fun and so rewarding both as a way of getting to know each other better and getting away from the rigors of everyday life.

Times of disorder, uncertainty, and chaos are facts of life. They can't be avoided. Are there ways to receive the gift of order in the midst of our chaos? We will explore encouraging, hope-filled rhythms and rituals the Bible offers us. And, we will learn about uplifting patterned ways of life we can develop for ourselves.

Leadership

Linda Morningstar has retired from her long-term role as Associate Director in Columbia Theological Seminary's Center for Lifelong Learning. While at Columbia Seminary, she developed, publicized and coordinated continuing education, adult education, and lay leader training programs. She now offers freelance retreats and adult Sunday school lessons.

Location

Fellowship Camp and Conference Center is located in Waterloo, SC on beautiful Lake Greenwood. Rooms in the conference center have either three twin beds or two twins and a double with bathrooms ensuite. In addition to formal time in large or small groups, there will be opportunities for yoga, hiking, disc golf, gaga, canoeing, kayaking, or enjoying the rocking chairs in the lakeside pavilion.
